

What We Do

To put it simply, we do that which will make your business better. We like the idea of web based applications, though that does not mean we are tied to the web platform, as it were. We are able to develop desktop applications for various operating systems.

We can produce new web applications for you or customise already available systems. We can provide these web applications either for you to set up on your local servers or we can set them up on remote servers to help provide worldwide access and extra precautions. We can even provide them installed on a server, ready for you to plug in to your network.

Do you see a market for a program that is just going unfilled? We can produce the application for you to sell as your own.

Do you have an application that you need testing, but do not have the time, resources or expertise to do it? Our testing staff members are more than happy to test them for you.

If you are not sure as to whether we can be of assistance please feel free to contact us and see what we can do for you.
